STETSON BEATS MICHIGAN FIVE

SECOND TEAM LOSES TO ACADEMY BOYS IN A LIVELY CONTEST.

Double Header at Cummings Gym Draws Good Crowd.

Last Saturday night the Stetson Basketball team showed good form and easily vanquished the much vaunted Michiganders from the orange groves out in the direction of DeLeon. The big boys could not seem to keep up with the home lads and as a consequence a very one-sided score was the result. Last year the orange pickers put up a good article at the indoor sport but they seem to lack pep this season.

The Stetson team showed more team work than they have had in evidence since the first game of the year. The passing was accurate and the entire contest well played by the wearers of the Green and White.

The game between the Academy five and the second team was a more spirited contest than the big event. The boys were evenly matched and put up a very satisfactory exhibition. The younger Scoville looked particularly good at shooting baskets and Fenno was much in evidence also.

We understand that in a week the Varsity team goes away on an extended trip. The exact itinerary has not been revealed, but we have been informed that a game will probably be played as far south as Miami, and another up at Jacksonville. This will be a long trip and we hope that the boys will bring home the bacon.

It should be stated for the benefit of those who do not know, that Basketball at Stetson is worrying along without a coach and therefore credit is certainly due to the men who have spirit enough to get out and do the best that they can. Some day perhaps athletics at this institution will be placed on a secure basis.

VARSITY CLUB MEETING.

The meeting of the Varsity Club on Friday, Jan. 22, was an excellent one. An eloquent debate was given by Deane and H. Shelley for the affirmative and Tissot and Peterson for the negative upon the question,

Resolved, That in the settlement of international disputes, law can and should be substituted for armed force. Both sides of the debate were full of good points. The side of the negative was necessarily this, that war is beneficial. They upheld their contention with arguments and facts that the affirmative could not refute. The decision of the judges was unanimous in favor of the negative.

Roy Scoville gave the war news for the week in a neutral way, but he censured the pronunciation of some places, e. g., Soissons.

Mr. Smith in his Critic's Report gave his views upon the questions that had been the topic of discussion during the meeting.

There are some men who are unable to tell even the truth without exaggeration.

LAW NOTES.

The Kent Club.

The Committee for selecting the team to represent the Club in the Inter-Club Debates reported that they had selected Mess. Dinneen, Haskins and Jennings for the team, with Messrs. Kanner and Dodge as alternates. The Club accepted the decision with approval.

Mr. Tribble then was called to the floor and made quite an address, that he termed a "Warning," which was based upon the War and upon Germany's ambitions.

Mr. Dodge took the chair for Parliamentary Practice and for ten full minutes the club had him settling disputes and putting motions.

There being no further business the President closed the meeting.

Messrs. Leonardy, Kanner and Taylor went to Daytona Saturday. Some one said that they were looking for future locations.

Pratt Phillips and Mr. Curran spent Sunday in St. Augustine going by Palatka. Pratt says that they "shore did see some purty girls."

McIlvain and Tubby displayed some of their "Convince the Jury" ability in convincing each other that the Eskimo boy that paraded our streets Monday was in reality a Chinaman.

John G. Leonardy says, "That just because he has been to the Legislature, people think he can tear up the deadening with extemporaneous speeches, and that he thinks they ought to "Scratch him out."

Keep your eye on Moot Court—some interesting things are bound to be pulled off on day to be fixed by the Court.

A large Colonial porch, a large hospitality, and a still larger spirit of welcome, together with the excellent refreshments served by fair damsels, were characteristics of a recent "get together" that will not be forgotten.

When it comes to Toast Masters Dave Sholtz will probably get the cake.

Koester, Junkin and Carver have been admitted to the Bar of John B. Stetson Practice Court, taking the oath from Mr. Justice Weir.

STETSON ENGINEERING SOCIETY.

The society met January 19, in the Tech Room. A program consisting of Reviews of Highway Construction during 1914 was given. Several of the members had other engagements and therefore the meeting was not lengthy. The next meeting will be held Tuesday, February 2, at 7. P. M., in the Surveying Class Room. We want every student interested in any branch of engineering to be there. Remember the date and time.

When a man succeeds in making love to a girl without any trouble he is as disappointed as though he had dealt at whist and had turned up a deuce.

LEGAL FRAT GIVES SMOKER

ENTERTAINS LAW DEPARTMENT AT STEEDS FOR GENERAL GOOD TIME.

Speeches, Smokes, Eats and Drinks the Order of the Day.

The recently organized Legal Fraternity entertained the men of the Law School at a smoker given at the home of Mr. Steed, last Monday night.

By eight o'clock the spacious porch of the Steed residence was almost full to overflowing while the young lawyers, under the influence of Larangas, Fatimas and many other varieties, forgot dull care, corporation de facto and de jure.

Every member of the Law School, save the four first rankers were present, the absent one being Dean Rasco and our three lady lawyers.

David Sholtz was master of ceremonies and right manfully did David attack the Philistines. First to get every one in humor for that which was to follow, he launched his first surprise of the evening in the form of a quartette. Several numbers were rendered but "When good fellows get Together" received the most applause.

Mr. Sholtz then gave an address of welcome, explaining the need of closer union of the law men both in their study and social activities, and notified the gathering that he would take the privilege of calling on several of those present for impromptu talks along appropriate lines.

To Dr. Hulley was given the honor of making the first address. He responded in his usual brilliant manner giving a history of the trials, vicissitudes and triumphs of the law school from its beginning down to the present year. Then he spoke of the splendid work of those gone before, and assured the present students that he felt that they would add fresher and greener laurels to the Law Department of J. B. S. U.

Mr. Stewart then spoke for the Seniors pleading for more and better spirit and through the medium of several good jokes proved what enthusiasm and spirit would do.

Prof. Bauer talked of actual experiences of the court room work and the every day life of a practicing lawyer. Every point was driven home with some apt witticism leveled against "His Honor," the lawyers or the jury.

Johnnie Leonardy represented the rat lawyers. He didn't say much but he laughed, and those who know Johnnie realize what his laugh is worth a book of philosophy and humor combined.

The refreshments were served by Miss Josie Steed, Miss Ruby Jackson, Miss Frances Gardner and Miss Alice Steed. Who would question the bill of fare when served by such dainty waitresses? Each fellow tried to excel the other in eating everything served and to attract the attention of those serving and hold it longer than any of his fellows.

A success from start to finish. Here's to the Hosts, "Long may they wave."

VESPERS.

At the Vesper service last Sunday Dr. Hulley negan a series of addresses on the subject of the Psalms. Doctor Hulley has written a book on this subject and the students are urged to be present at the lectures which will last several Sundays.

The Choir sang Gounod's "Praise Ye the Father," Mr. Seagroatt sang two solos, and Miss Bates one. The music was especially good at this service.

SEAGROAT SINGS.

Mr. Herbert GLADSTONE Seagroatt, whom many of the students in school will remember as the soloist and remarkable first tenor of the Stetson Glee Club of 1913 was in town last week and sang two solos at the Vesper service. In spite of his exaggerated affectation, his atrocious enunciation, and general bombastic pomposity, Birdseed has a voice and no mistake about it. As some one remarked, "If we could hear him on a Victrola how beautiful it would be."

We recall with not a little amusement Herbert's escapades on the athletic field immediately after his arrival at Stetson. His melodious voice was raised in vigorous whistling for water, and other undignified stunts hailed his advent in college. On another occasion, we recall how Herbert was prevailed upon to climb upon the shed near the kitchen at Chaudoin, one morning after breakfast, and in that elevated attitude, numerous unkind Rah Rah boys liberally showered dear ol' Lunnon's representative with Florida sand.

SOCIAL FUNCTION.

It is campus rumor that a number of the more scintillating lights in Stetson student body took a gentle journey out to Lake Winnemissett one evening last week where until the wee sma' hours great hilarity was indulged in by all concerned. This base particle of gossip, however, lacks confirmation.

B. B. D. C. Y. K.

These mysterious initials have been floating about the dining room the last few days and the more ignorant among our number have asked for a little elucidation. It is insinuated that Bro. Pattishall can shed light upon this abstruse and recondite theme.

PI PHIS ENTERTAIN.

The members of the Pi Beta Phi Fraternity will entertain their friends in the Carnegie Library on Saturday afternoon. Further details of the affair will appear in our next issue.

DANCE AT PUTNAM.

Anthony W. Bates, otherwise and more familiarly known on the campus as "Tony" was the instigator of a dance at the Putnam Inn last Friday evening, which according to all reports was a huge success.

Marriage is a peculiar chemical process which turns a fiancée into a total stranger.

CHRONICLE BY TOUCHSTONE

THE BATTLE THAT WAS LOST FOR A HAIR PIN.

Story of a Time When Women Shall Get the Rights Of Men.

Foreword—Some happy day, so the women say, they will have all the rights of the noble race of men. They want the right to vote, and they vaunt of what they will do. Let us see what they will do. If they want to be as men, give them the work and joys of men.

Let us throw a side-light on the future, taking, for instance, the year 1924.

Scene—The heat of battle; a skirmish line. An army of women is fighting for the flag; before them lies an army of men that has invaded the country. The girls are fighting valiantly; their flag floats proudly over the skirmish line.

(By the way, the flag is no longer the Stars and Stripes that the men knew in the glorious days of yore. When the women came into power in 1917, they decided that the flag as it then stood did not fit the general color scheme of the army uniform, so they passed a law changing the color and design. Since then the nation's banner has been re-modeled twice every year, in order to correspond with both summer suits and winter uniforms.)

Captain Daisy (exhorting, and spurring up the courage of the girls before the charge): "Well, my hearty girls, we have got to win the day. The general, in her tent and boudoir, has ordered a general advance on the foreign beasts. The 63rd battalion has already swung round on the right. So get ready, girls, the command to advance will come immediately.

"I will say this to those of you who are recruits and who have not been under fire before, be not afraid, for your uniforms fit you well and you look most bewitching in them.

"Girls, you had better fix your hair and load your guns, for I see an orderly coming from the general's tent. Now, one final word to encourage you: Your guns will not hurt your shoulders like they did in yesterday's fighting; I have ordered the commissariat to send up cartridges loaded with reduced charges. They will also cause less noise; my ears were almost split by the racket from yesterday's fire."

Private Kitty speaks up, who has unsuccessfully been trying to load her gun for the last five minutes:

"Miss Captain, I cannot load my gun. I must have forgotten how."

Captain D——. "Corporal Hattie, load Private Kitty's gun for her."

Corporal Hattie goes to Private Kitty and together they fumble over the gun. After three minutes they have not yet succeeded in loading it. The orderly comes up, and says that the General orders an immediate charge.

Captain.—"But we cannot advance just yet. Private Kitty has trouble in loading her gun."

For two minutes more Private

All contributions should be typewritten, on one side of paper only.

Address all articles intended for publication to the editor. Make all checks payable to the business manager.

—EDITORIAL—

The full activities of the Winter Term are now under way. The Glee Clubs are practicing, the Baseball team is at work, the College Play is rehearsing, the inter-society debates are brewing, the usual entertainments in the university auditorium are advertised, and the first loves at Chaudoin are undergoing rapid disintegration.

The actions of the powers in more liberally supplying the students with tennis courts is very gratifying to us all. Never before in the history of the school have we had so many courts as now are in use. And several more are in process of construction.

The trials and tribulations of the Annual Board are now coming to the fore. Verily, it is an Herculean task to put out a $1,000 book for a college of this size. We should all assist the Junior Class in this mammoth undertaking by complying with its request to attend to the matter of pictures and writeups as soon as possible.

It is with sincere regret that we announce that the Chairman of the Annual Board, Stanley T. Wallbank, has been very suddenly called home by the death of his father. We understand that it is uncertain whether Mr. Wallbank will be able to return to school this year or not. The sympathy of the entire student body goes out to him and to his brother, W. C. Wallbank, who is here in the Law Department. The Collegiate takes this opportunity of speaking for all Stetson students, and extending sympathy to the bereaved brothers.

Members securing funds for the Y. M. C. A. still have a few copies of Dr. Winfield Scott Hall's book for sale. The men of the University should obtain this excellent book for their own use and help the Association to pay for the Doctor's lectures here.

WATCH THE ALUMNI GO BY

A letter from Davis Moon, '14, states that he has recently married and that he has purchased a Ford car. This probably substantiates the report that Moon recently earned a $5,000 fee.

Joe Hill Williams, '07, has been elected to the Legislature from Bradford County.

Mrs. Mary Howarth, who was Miss Mary Stewart, has been given license to practice Law in Pennsylvania. Mrs. Howarth is a Stetson Graduate and enjoys the distinction of being the First Lady Lawyer to be licensed in Florida.

M. G. Rowe, '09, has been appointed Justice of the Peace in Daytona.

The following is taken from a Philadelphia paper:—
WINS HER RIGHT TO PRACTICE.

Supreme Court Admits Mary Stewart Howarth After Examination.

Mary Stewart Howarth, wife of Casper Howarth, a merchant of Chester, Pa., was today admitted to practice law in the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

After graduating from the University of Michigan she went south and took the law course at the John B. Stetson University at DeLand, Florida, and was the first woman lawyer to be admitted to practice by the Supreme Court of that State. This was in 1908.

Subsequently she married Mr. Howarth, and, coming north, she took the State Board examination in Pennsylvania last July and passed with a high average.

SIGMA NU SMOKER.

Last Tuesday evening the Sigs entertained their non-frat friends with a good old fashioned smoker. Bursts of oratory and good jokes not to mention the music and eats, filled the evening. King Tubby covered himself with glory in the commissary department, while Leonard and Loucey carried away all honor in wit and repartee, closely seconded by Dunson and others.

FRAT HOUSE FIRE.

The fire was discovered about two P. M. Saturday by Fire Chief Carson. Finding his local corps skeptical and luke-warm, he with much difficulty summoned the town department to his assistance. In the meantime he succeeded in rallying his company and a heroic fight took place. Water being at a premium the chief resorted to the garbage can. The fire, insulted at such tactics, died down before help could arrive. The Sigs are still unable to decide which would cause the most damage, a good fire or Carson's original tactics.

In the future we would suggest dynamite or nitro-glycerine as a weapon, to the Chief.

TRI-DELTA PARTY.

On Friday afternoon, January 22, the Delta Delta Delta Fraternity was entertained by Mrs. Burrows in her beautiful home on the Boulevard. The house was beautifully decorated with narcissus and ferns. The patronesses of the fraternity assisted in the serving and a glorious and enthusiastic afternoon was enjoyed.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES.

Miss Stone, the Student Secretary of the South Atlantic Field of the Y. W. C. A., was a guest at Chaudoin this week. Thursday afternoon the girls entertained with a reception in the Chaudoin parlors and Miss Stone gave a very stirring address, on the work of the Y. W. C. A. in various fields, together with some interesting personal experiences. We hope to have Miss Stone with us at the beginning of the school year next Fall for a cabinet house party—when the work of the year can be organized and planned.

Y. M. C. A.

The meeting of Thursday, Jan. 21, was under the leadership of Charles Winner, and the topic of his address was "Freedom, What For?" His remarks were forceful and full of common sense. The meeting of January 28, will be in charge of Dean Brass.

The attendance at the meetings is better this year than last, but still there are many who should be present at these meetings. Try to come to some of them. Our time of meeting—7 P. M.—is especially for the town students.

DER DEUTSCHE VEREIN.

The Verein program on Tuesday evening was devoted entirely to folk stories and songs. The stories were read in English. A great deal of enthusiasm is being shown in the work of the Verein and the meetings are all well attended.

Why is Dodge so pie-ous lately? We thought he preferred dumping.

Kitty and Captain Hattie fumble over the gun; then they call for aid. Sixteen girls of the company volunteer, but after seven more minutes of struggle the gun is still unloaded.

Captain (at last angry): "Girls, you must hurry; the victory of the day depends on our advance." (She paces back and forth in front of the line.)

One minute more; the General's orderly frets. The Captain returns her officer's sword to its sheath at her side, then steps into the ranks; she takes the gun from P. Kitty's hands; she tries to load it, but finds difficulty; she turns it over, and looks at it with a puzzled air.

Captain (meditatively): "I don't see why I can't load this gun. I knew how yesterday—because the general gave us gun drill in the morning. Let's see; this is the muzzle of the gun, and this is the trigger—no, this is; I was wrong! And this end where the bullet comes out is the breech. Now, you are supposed to press a lever back of the muzzle, thus—but there is no lever! My, oh me! I really believe this gun was made wrong.

"There is the whole battle waiting on a wrong-made gun." Then vehemently: "I wish I had the man who made this gun." (several snickers are heard from the ranks—the Captain is 32, and still single; it is a sore topic with her.)

At last, after much fumbling, and turning the gun over half a hundred times, a hairpin suddenly drops out from the groove where the breech-bolt slides. The Captain utters a cry of exultation and proceeds to load the gun.

Captain—"A-ha! I knew I could load it. Private Kitty, I do not want to see that happen again. Never let a hairpin drop into the action of your gun; it shows bad taste for a soldier. Only raw recruits do such things."

(Kitty takes the loaded gun and goes to her place in sweet humiliation.)

"You have delayed the advance of the battalion full 25 minutes. Don't let the rest of the army hear of this, or we will be disgraced as were the 64th Artillery."

Captain—"Now, girls, advance at a double trot. We must make up for lost time."

At this moment an orderly rushes up, hot and panting. Her face is very serious.

"Captain, stop your girls; these are the General's orders. The day is lost. We must surrender. It is all because your company lagged in the field, Captain, instead of going to the support of the 23rd battalion."

With troubled face the Captain hears, "Girls, why can't you learn to fight as women should fight."

(One minute later; feelings becoming calmer, more composed and hopeful—the sting of defeat leaving.)

"There is one consolation left to us. Girls, maybe the enemy that we surrendered to are handsome men. My earnest prayer is that they are."

The whole company, speaking as with one voice—deeply and fervently: "Amen!"

And they retired to rest in the shade of the trees, and to await the surrender.

CHECKER TOURNAMENT.

Charles Walker, on the basis of a championship in checkers, made in the year 1911-1912, challenged anyone in Stetson Hall to a series of games. Immediately the occupants of the Ell began practicing and reviving old tactics. In other words, checkers was the rage. Walker's challenge was issued early in the Fall Term. Finally Walker's challenge was accepted and the result was that "Parson" was defeated by Pete and Repete, thirty or more games being played. As yet, Parson has not yet played Chapman, Carver, or any of the other care-free inmates of the College Ell.

BEATTY WINS SINGLES.

The men's singles in the tennis tournament are over and John Beatty of the Freshman Class is the winner, taking three out of four sets from Ben Hulley. The doubles are now under way and the result will soon be known. It is probable that Hulley and Beatty will be the team that will represent Stetson this year, and Beatty at singles is already picked by his success in the singles tournament.

ANNUAL PICTURES.

This week has seen the various classes congregated about the campus to be photographed by the redoubtable Bill Dineen, official picture-taker for the 1915 OSHI-HIYI. Tuesday afternoon the Varsity Club, the Girls Clee Club, the Sophomore Class, and the Graduating Academy Class, were snapped. Incidentally we might remark that the Senior Academy Class for this year is the largest that has ever graduated at Stetson by some ten or twelve members.

A SUGGESTION.

The men living in Conrad Hall have no gathering room or anything in the nature of a parlor at all. There are three vacant rooms on the first floor next to the two entrances which have never been occupied and we suggest that the powers that be consider the advisability of converting this useless space into a sort of assembly room for the fellow in the barracks of Conrad. There can be no complaint of the individual rooms, but there is certainly a need of some place for the boys to get together, other than in one another's rooms. Open these rooms up, place some furniture in them, and make them homelike and you will be conferring a benefit upon those of us who are in Conrad.

This is a humble suggestion, but it is to be hoped that some action may be taken.

In order to be popular with her own sex, a woman should shave her head, blacken her teeth, and cultivate a squint, and even then there would be a few sweet feminine souls who would accuse her of trying to attract men by her originality.
